

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
Introduction	9
Part 1: Reimagining Scotland.....	11
Scotland between past and present	13
Myths, legends and cultural stereotypes.....	24
Part 2: From ancient bards to modern writers.....	41
Literary beginnings.....	43
Critical approaches	44
Early Scottish literature	48
Scottish multivocality	57
Part 3: The Last of the Free.....	65
The formation of a nation	67
History in a nutshell.....	67
Scotland between history and fiction.....	77
Sir Walter Scott and the romantic view of history.....	85
Social criticism and politics: John Galt, Susan Ferrier, Margaret Oliphant	91
Part 4: Factual truths and human nature	99
Ideas, principles and systems of thought.....	101
Early beginnings.....	101
Empiricism, epistemology and aesthetic approaches: David Hume, Adam Smith and Thomas Carlyle.....	105
The Scottish School of Common Sense	114
Religious perspectives	120
James Hogg and the power of religious satire	124
Part 5: Lyrical Scotland.....	131
Scottish poetic tradition.....	133
The Golden Age of Scottish Makars: Robert Henryson, William Dunbar, Gavin Douglas.....	137
Robert Burns and Romantic Scotland	144

Part 6: Escapes from reality	155
Metamorphoses of the Gothic in Scottish Literature	157
Divided selves	160
R. L. Stevenson and human duality	163
Arthur Conan Doyle and the rewards of logical thinking.....	170
 Bibliography	 177
Annexes	183