

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	p.7
LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS	p.9
FOREWORD	p.11
INTRODUCTION: Theoretical Considerations	p.25

PART ONE

The Others – On Blacks and Jews in Early Modern England	p.39
CHAPTER ONE: Renaissance England – building up the nation, justifying colonialism, and expanding the Empire	p.41
CHAPTER TWO: Understanding Race in Early Modern England	p.59
CHAPTER THREE: The Otherness of the Moor	p.83
CHAPTER FOUR: The yellow-starred Jews of Elizabethan England	p.99

PART TWO

FOUR CASE STUDIES – Titus Andronicus, Othello, The Merchant of Venice, The Tempest	p.113
CHAPTER FIVE: Titus Andronicus – revenge in black and white	p.115
CHAPTER SIX: Othello’s whiteness – Shakespeare’s rhetoric of race	p.131
CHAPTER SEVEN: The Jew which Shakespeare drew	p.151
CHAPTER EIGHT: The savage on the Elizabethan stage: Caliban’s colour	p.167
GENERAL CONCLUSION: Was Shakespeare a racist or a racialist?	p.185
ILLUSTRATIONS
BIBLIOGRAPHY	p.191

